Feng Shui: No sound from the music man. Phil Gauldston was to have phoned me last week to make a date for coming here this week. He has not. This is the second time I was to have heard from him about coming here and didn't. Innocent explanations of his not coming are readily available. What is not as easily conceived, given his himesty and seriousness of intent, is that he found it necessary to neither phone to make the arrangements nor to let me know not to expect him. Simple courtesy should prompt him to inform me so that I would not keep the entire week free to serve his convenience. I didn't. I was busy Monday and from Tuesday evening until Thursday afternoon. Not having heard from him last week, I felt free to commit myself for this week. HW 4/6/73
